

Project Plan

Accounting for Personnel & Positions

1. Identify functional areas of personnel processing and accounting.
2. Describe the various aspects of records management that should be studied for possible application at either the operating office level or in the Office of Personnel. In other words, develop a checklist to apply to the various functional areas of personnel processing and accounting.
3. Process chart, where necessary, using the checklist as a guide.